Is Conscious Parent Coaching for You?

- Escape the prison of self-judgment – and parent with self-assured calm
- Support your child to blossom in their uniqueness and confidence
- Recognize the difference between over-control and appropriate guidelines
- Finally see through the lie of you “not being enough” as a parent
- Gain four key skills of parenting that you can rely on in challenging moments
- Appreciate precious times with your child before they’ve grown up and moved on
- Relax with peace of mind, knowing there is someone in your life who understands what you’re going through

Parenting, like no other part of life, offers you a unique doorway to a profound learning of yourself and what love truly means. This love is not just for your child, but for your own being. Self-honoring and parenting from who you are, not your parents or society, is the secret doorway to being the parent you wish you had as a child.
