

David Ellzey Biography

#1 Best Selling Author, Speaker, Coach, Trainer, Transformational Entertainer

“David Ellzey is an accomplished court jester to humanity...connecting us to our larger selves.” Norman Cousins

David Ellzey is a #1 best-selling author, motivational speaker, leadership coach and transformative entertainer who has presented for over a quarter of a million people worldwide. His school presentation, “Growing Up Healthy” addressed self-respect and substance abuse prevention inspiring 100,000 students in US schools.

David Ellzey, as a performer, has been called a modern-day shaman who “leaves us basking in our own wholeness.” He moves groups, gatherings, or conferences with words and intellect to experience lightness & laughter.

A regular presenter at The Science and Non-Duality Conference in the US and Europe, David has spoken at world peace events such as The United Nations Peace Conference in Costa Rica, to The World Youth Peace Conference in Moscow where he received a standing ovation from the audience representing 160 nations.

David has entertained children at Mother Theresa’s Orphanage in India and he is a recipient of the prestigious Raoul Wallenburg Humanitarian Award for his work with The Big Apple Circus Clown Care Program using humor as a part of healing with children in hospitals across the United States.

As a world-class physical artist, humorist, and storyteller, David was trained in the art form of mime at age seventeen by a Kabbalah master. In his newest book, The Ocean of Now, he reveals the power and celebration of living from the present moment. David is a one of the co-authors of WIN: 35 Winning Strategies from Today’s Leading Entrepreneurs.
